DS#6909 >> I do think I have made my point and by moving our recent messages >> out of public view, it looks like the sysops agree.

David,

Let me make this clear so that there will be no doubt. The messages were removed from public view because of the ad hominem nature of their content. Whether or not you "made your point" was not a factor in the decision.

Please do not cite the sysops' actions in moving messages as evidence of either agreement or disagreement with the content of those messages. I assure you that the action expresses neither.
